

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 15, 2012

Contact: Cynthia Cates

Phone: 916.231.6360

Email: cynthia@servnetauctions.com

ServNet Strengthens Leadership

ServNet's President, R. Charles Nichols, has announced that Patty Stanley has been elected to serve as Vice President of ServNet's Board of Directors. Following the pattern established by the National Auto Auction Association, Stanley will work closely with Nichols over the next 18 months, when she succeeds him as President in 2014. She had previously served on ServNet's board as both a Director and as Treasurer.

Patty Stanley and her husband Henry Stanley are owners of two auctions in the ServNet Auction group: Carolina Auto Auction in Anderson, South Carolina; and Indiana Auto Auction in Fort Wayne, Indiana. Both have served in a number of leadership positions with the NAAA (Henry served as NAAA's president in 2000), and while co-chairing the 2004 NAAA convention committee they were instrumental in forming the NAAA Scholarship Foundation.

Patty Stanley, owner of Carolina and Indiana Auto Auctions, has been elected to serve as ServNet's Vice President

"Patty's contributions to ServNet have been invaluable during her term of service as both a Director and as Treasurer, and I look forward to working with her in her capacity as Vice President," said Nichols. "Her participation is driven by her dedication to ServNet, her commitment to the industry, and her support for the education and training of the next generation of auction owners. She is a tremendous example of an active, committed leader, and we are certain to benefit from her efforts on our behalf."

"As ServNet auction owners, we all derive tremendous benefit from sharing ideas, services and networking opportunities," said Patty Stanley. "I am both pleased and honored to serve on ServNet's Board and am looking forward to working with Charles Nichols and the other officers and directors to continue to expand ServNet's influence and impact on the marketplace."

Kevin Brown, owner and general manager of Missouri Auto Auction assumes duties as ServNet's Treasurer. Eric Autenrieth, co-owner and general manager at Indiana Auto Auction will serve as ServNet's representative on IARA's Board of Directors. Jeff Brasher, owner of Brasher's Reno Auto Auction continues to serve as ServNet's chairman of the Board. Remaining on the Board as Directors are Doug Doll, owner of Kansas City Independent Auto Auction and Brad Sturgeon, owner of Dealers Auto Auction of the Southwest and Dealers Auto Auction of the Rockies, remains on ServNet's Board as a Director.

"The active involvement of ServNet's owners is another indication of ServNet's strength and leadership," said Pierre Pons, ServNet's CEO. "As involved as they are in the day-to-day operations of their own businesses, these owners are tremendously selfless in giving of their time and energy on behalf of ServNet and the auction industry. Their strategic leadership is vital to the success of the independent auction community. "

ServNet is the nation's premiere network of independent auto auctions working together to strengthen and build business relationships. Since 1988, ServNet member auctions have provided a full range of remarketing services to its customers, including the best auctioneers, inspections, reconditioning, transportation assistance and inventory financing.

For more information about ServNet and ServNet member auctions, go to www.servnetauctions.com. ServNet's corporate headquarters are in Franklin, TN and may be reached at (615) 599-4600.